Mary Rose Main

Mary Rose Main is National Executive Director of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., the largest voluntary organization for girls and young women in the world. She assumed the position in February, 1990, after serving as Assistant National Executive Director for thirteen years. Ms. Main has played a leadership role in increasing Girl Scout membership to its present total of more than three million, the highest in eighteen years. She is also credited with implementing a corporate planning and management system for the Girl Scout organization and for developing an acclaimed series of management monographs that are used by a number of outside organizations, including for-profit groups.

Mary Rose Main

Ms. Main has traveled throughout the world on behalf of Girl Scouting. She participated in the 23rd World Conference of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in Tehran, Iran, and was a representative of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. at the 27th World Conference in Singapore. Ms. Main also serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the National Assembly.

A resident of New York City, Ms. Main has demonstrated long-standing interest and support of music and the arts in the metropolitan New York area and is a member of the Board of Trustees and a Deacon of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. She has been recognized for her achievements with the Distinguished Alumni Award of Simpson College where she earned her Bachelor of Arts in Sociology. Ms. Main also completed management programs at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and the Boston University Human Relations Center.

Alfred C. Haynes

Alfred C. Haynes

A resident of Seattle, Washington, Alfred C. Haynes has enjoyed a distinguished career as a pilot with United Airlines for thirty-six years. In July, 1989, Captain Haynes was Pilot-in-Command of a flight bound for Sioux City, Iowa, when an engine explosion crippled the aircraft. Against overwhelming odds, Captain Haynes led his crew in the safe landing of the plane. It is a tribute to his piloting and leadership skills that almost two-hundred people survived what could have been a major disaster.

Captain Haynes received his pilot training in the U.S. Navy and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps. He taught instrument flying until his release from the service in 1956. He joined United Airlines in 1956 as a flight engineer and through successive promotions retired as a Captain in 1991.

As a citizen and community leader, Captain Haynes has been actively involved as a volunteer umpire with Little League baseball for twenty-two years. In 1989, he was selected Little League Volunteer of the Year and Volunteer of the Year for the Western Region of the country. He umpired the Little League World Series in 1978 and the Senior League World Series from 1981 to 1985. He also serves as stadium announcer for high school football for the Highline School District.

Nathaniel Pryor Reed

Nathaniel Pryor Reed was born in New York City and grew up in Florida and Connecticut. He graduated from Deerfield Academy and Trinity College, entered the U.S. Air Force in 1955, served as an intelligence officer in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East and retired as a Captain in the Air Force Reserves in 1959.

He began his civilian career as a manager of the family real estate and hotel business centering around Jupiter Island in Hobe Sound, Florida. His concern with the environment soon steered him into public life and eventually led him to serve five Florida governors.

Nathaniel Pryor Reed

Mr. Reed, over the years, has been involved in every aspect of Florida's environmental problems. He served as the Chairman of the Department of Air and Water Pollution Control. He successfully challenged the construction of the Cross Florida Barge Canal project and has worked for thirty years trying to solve the continuing problems of the Everglades National Park.

In 1971, Mr. Reed was appointed by President Nixon as Assistant Secretary of the Department of Interior for Fish, Wildlife and Parks and was reappointed by President Ford. Following his resignation from federal service in 1977, he has served on every imaginable committee dealing with natural resource management and the problems of growth in the State of Florida.

Mr. Reed served as a member of the Board of the National Audubon Society and on the South Florida Water Management District. He chaired Governor Martinez's Commission on the Future of Florida's Environment.

Mr. Reed presently serves as a member of the Board of the National Geographic Society, the Natural Resources Defense Council, and as an advisor to many state and national conservation organizations. He is a founder and President of the Board of Directors of 1000 Friends of Florida, a non-profit, growth management advocacy group with over 5000 members.

Mr. Reed is an amateur botanist, ichthyologist, biologist, an ardent fisherman, hunter, golfer, and gardener.

Academic Regalia

Lending color to the pageantry of the Academic Convocation are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty. This regalia reaches back into the medieval ages when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating the learned men from other groups and offering warmth and protection.

In America in the late nineteenth century, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, undergraduates wear the black robes with the white collars. Holders of the bachelor degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

Holders of degrees from foreign universities or religious orders wear the entire academic costume as decreed by the conferring institution.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on the hoods worn in the Academic Procession at this Convocation and the subject each represents.

Art, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Business	Drab
Economics	Copper

America the Beautiful
by Katharine Lee Bates

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountains' majesties
Above the fruited plain!
America! America!
God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

O beautiful for pilgrim feet
Whose stern, impassioned stress
A thoroughfare for freedom beat
Across the wilderness!
America! America!
God mend thine ev'ry flaw,
Confirm thy soul in self-control,
Thy liberty in law.
